

Lewis and Clark in camp on Travelers' Rest (Lolo) creek, Montana. The scene represents the appearance of the three Tushepaw, or Flathead Indians, on September 10, 1805. Clark is facing the reader, Lewis and the Shoshone guide are seen in profile, and Sacágawea and the papoose are behind them.

From an oil painting by E. S. Paxson.

The Trail of Lewis and Clark 1804-1904

A story of the great exploration across the Continent in 1804-06; with a description of the old trail, based upon actual travel over it, and of the changes found a century later

By

Olin D. Wheeler

Member of the Minnesota Historical Society

Author of "6000 Miles through Wonderland," "Indianland and Wonderland," "Wonderland 1900," etc.

Two Volumes

With 200 Illustrations

VOLUME II.

8386

G. P. Putnam's Sons
New York and London
The Knickerbocker Press

1904

COPYRIGHT, 1904
BY
OLIN D. WHEELER

Published, June, 1904

The Knickerbocker Press, New York

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
I.—Three Forks of the Missouri to the Headwaters of the Columbia	1 ✓
II.—Crossing the Mountains	51 ✓
III.—Down the Columbia	115 ✓
IV.—The Winter at Fort Clatsop (1805-1806)	194 ✓
V.—Homeward Bound—Fort Clatsop to Traveller's- Rest Creek	236 ✓
VI.—Route of Captain Lewis to the Mouth of the Yellowstone River	287 ✓
VII.—Route of Captain Clark to the Mouth of the Yellowstone River	317 ✓
VIII.—The Return to St. Louis	370 ✓
Index	386

ILLUSTRATIONS

	PAGE
Lewis and Clark in Camp on Traveller's-Rest (Lolo) Creek, Montana. The Scene Represents the Appearance of the Three Tushepaw, or Flat-head Indians, on September 10, 1805. Clark is Facing the Reader, Lewis and the Shoshone Guide are seen in Profile, and Sacágawea and the Papoose are behind them Frontispiece From an oil painting by E. S. Paxson.
The Cañon of the Jefferson River, near Philosophy River, now Willow Creek	3
The Beaver's-head Rock of Lewis and Clark, Looking South. This is now Locally Known as the Point of Rocks	7
Resolutions Adopted by the Bar of St. Charles, Mo., upon the Death of Hon. Geo. Shannon	9
Facsimile of Page 55 Codex "G" Clark, Describing the "Beaver's-head"	13
The True Beaver's-head Rock of Lewis and Clark, below Dillon, Mont., as Seen from the South	17
The Rock Locally Known as Beaver's-head Rock, the "Rattlesnake Cliff" of Lewis and Clark, as Seen from the South	21

	PAGE
Rock Opposite "Rattlesnake Cliff," above Dillon, Mont., now Generally, but Erroneously, Known as the Beaver's-head Rock — Looking North . . .	29
Map Showing the Route of Lewis and Clark in 1804- 1806 from the Three Forks of the Missouri to Ross's Hole	50
A Pack Train in the Salmon River Country . . .	53
The Route of Lewis and Clark, Crossing the Bitter Root Range, Lemhi River to Mouth of Walla Walla River	57
Head of Cañon of Bitter Root River, near Junction of Ross's Fork and Camp Creek	63
Flathead, or Salish, Indian Women on the Jocko Reservation, Montana	67
St. Mary's Mission, Stevensville, Mont., where Father De Smet Established Himself among the Salish, or Flathead, Indians. Bitter Root Range in the Background	71
The Old Indian Trail along the East Fork of the Bitter Root Road, at Wagon Bridge, near Wildes's Spring	75
Junction of the Traveller's-Rest — Lolo Creek and Bitter Root River, Montana	77
Clearwater — Kooskooskee — River Salmon . . .	79
High Pinnacle Rock at Lolo Hot Springs, Montana. The Old Trail can be Seen just to the Left of the Rock in the Trees	83

Illustrations

vii

PAGE

Glade Creek and Meadow. The Headwaters of Kooskooskee — Clearwater — River. Lolo Pass in Distance	89
Lewis and Clark in the Heart of the Bitter Root Mountains	93
(From an oil painting by Paxson).
Facsimile of Page 2, Codex "Fd." Lewis. Records First Sight of Kansas Prairie, Idaho, from Rocky Ridge, Bitter Root Range	97
Wheeler and Wright in Camp at Weitus Meadow in 1902. Wright Standing	100
Hungry Creek, Idaho, below where Captain Clark Killed a Horse for Food on September 19, 1805	103
A Bit of the Old Indian, or Lolo, Trail at Lolo Hot Springs, Montana	107
The Bitter Root Range at Head of Colt-killed—White Sand—Creek	110
Route of Lewis and Clark Across the Bitter Root Mountains in September, 1805 and June, 1806	112
Descendants of the Chopunnish Indians of Lewis and Clark	113
Kamas Bulbs. Used as Food by the Chopunnish and Other Indian Tribes	116
The Branding Iron of Lewis and Clark Found in 1892	118
Junction of Collins, or Lolo, Creek and the Kooskooskee, or Clearwater River, Idaho	120
The Lewis and Clark Medal, Found at Mouth of Colter's Creek, or Potlatch River in 1899	123

	PAGE
Junction of Kooskooskee, or Clearwater River and Colter's Creek, now Potlatch River, Idaho	127
Junction of Lewis or Snake River with the Kooskooskee, or Clearwater River. The Town is Lewiston, Idaho, and the Bridge Spans the Snake River	129
A Combined Harvester and Thresher, Used in Harvesting in the Clearwater and Walla Walla Regions, Idaho and Washington	133
An Old Indian Sweat-Bath House. The Rocks Seen have been Heated and Used to Produce the Vapor Bath and Then have been Thrown Away	135
Group of Indians Living at the Junction of the Snake—Lewis—and Columbia Rivers, and Showing the Rush Mats Used in the Construction of their Houses	137
Facsimile of Page 33, Codex "H" Clark, being a Map of the Country at the Junction of the Columbia, Lewis, or Snake, and Tapetell—Tap-teal—or Yakima Rivers, Washington	141
The Route of Lewis and Clark. Mouth of Snake River to Fort Clatsop	143
A Umatilla Indian Tepee of Rush Mats on the Columbia River in 1904	144
Photographic Reproduction of Map (made by Lewis and Clark) of the Great or Celilo Falls of the Columbia River	147

Illustrations

ix

	PAGE
Great or Celilo Falls, of the Columbia River, around which Lewis and Clark Made a Portage on Oc- tober 23, 1805	150
Mount Hood, 11,225 Feet High, and a Salmon Fish Wheel, from the Dalles, Oregon	153
Grant's Castle, on the Columbia River, Characteristic of Columbia River Bluffs.	156
Fort Rock, at Mouth of Quenett, or Mill, Creek, the Dalles, Oregon, where Lewis and Clark Camped in October, 1805, and in April, 1806	159
Lower Columbia River Indian of the Present Time, and their Rush-Mat Houses	163
Memaloose Alahee, or Sepulchre Island, Columbia River. Shows the Trevett Monument and the Remains of Old Indian Burial Huts and Indian Skeletons.	165
Interior of Salmon Cannery on the Columbia River. 200,000 Cans of Salmon in Sight	168
Photographic Reproduction of the Map by Lewis and Clark of the Lower Falls, or the Cascades of the Columbia River. The Cascades are "The Great Shoot"	174
Bridal Veil Falls, Columbia River	170
Beacon Rock of Lewis and Clark,—Columbia River. Now Known as Castle Rock	178
Copyright by Kiser Bros.
Lone Rock, Upper Columbia River, about Fifty Miles above Portland, Oregon	182
Copyright by Kiser Bros.

	PAGE
Photographic Reproduction of the Map of the Mouth of the Columbia River by Lewis and Clark	185
North-head Lighthouse, Cape Disappointment, near Mouth of Columbia River	187
Fort George, or Astoria, in 1811. Tongue Point in the Distance Courtesy of Oregon Historical Society.	190
Site of Fort Clatsop, 1904	195
Astoria, Oregon. Cape Disappointment in Left Dis- tance; Chinook Point — Point Open-slope of Sergeant Gass — in Middle Distance	199
Salmon Fishing on the Lower Columbia River	204
Remains of the Old Lewis and Clark Salt Cairn, or Fur- nace, near Seaside, Oregon, in 1899. The Late Silas B. Smith, a Descendant of the Chief C6mo- wool of Lewis and Clark, Seated thereon	207
Facsimile of Pen-and-Ink Drawing by Captain Lewis of California Condor, "Pseudogryphus Califor- nianus." From Codex "J," Lewis, p. 80, Fort Clatsop	209
Pillars of Hercules, along the Columbia River, nea- Vancouver, but on the Oregon Shore. O. R. R. & N. Co. Railway in Foreground	213
Page 152 from Codex "J," Lewis Meteorological Rec- ord, January, 1806, Fort Clatsop	217
Columbia River Salmon	221
Facsimile of Pen-and-Ink Drawing by Captain Lewis of the Cock of the Plains, "Centrocerus uro- phasianus." From Codex "J," Lewis, p. 107, Fort Clatsop	225

Illustrations

xi

	PAGE
Along the Columbia River	228
Owl Rock, on the Columbia River	231
The Old Lighthouse at Cape Disappointment, Mouth of Columbia River. One Hundred Years Ago Vessels Crossed the Bar just to the Left of the Lighthouse	234
Old Fort Vancouver, Washington. Established by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1824	237
Courtesy of Oregon Historical Society.
Cape Horn, Columbia River, above Vancouver, Wash- ington	239
Mt. St. Helens, from the Columbia River	243
Copyright by Geo. M. Weister.
Facsimile of pp. 28-29, Codex "K," Lewis. Map of Junction of Columbia and Multnomah—Wil- liamette Rivers, from Indian Information	245
Multnomah Fall, Columbia River, More than 800 Feet in Height	249
Fish Wheels on the Columbia River	251
Latourelle Fall, on the Oregon Side of the Columbia River	255
Pe-tów-ya, a Cayuse Indian, who, as a Girl, Saw Lewis and Clark in 1806. She Died in 1902, Aged 111 Years	257
Mouth of Walla Walla River, near Hunts Junction, Washington, where Lewis & Clark Camped with Yellept, April 27-29, 1806	261

	PAGE
Kooskooskee, or Clearwater, River, near Colter's Creek, or Potlatch River, Idaho. Lewis and Clark Forded the Stream near here on the Homeward Journey in 1806	264
Commerap, or Kam-i-yáhp, or Kámiah, or Lawyer's Cañon Creek, Idaho, on which Lewis and Clark Camped from May 10 to May 13, 1806	267
Site of Camp Chopunnish of Lewis and Clark, in 1902, on the Kooskooskee River. The Circle, from which the Snow was Removed to Show the Outline, Marks the Location of an Old Indian Brush House such as Lewis and Clark Describe as in Existence in 1806	270
A Nez Percé, or Chopunnish, Brush Wickiup, in 1902, at the Ford of Collins, or Lolo, Creek, Idaho, such as were Used by Lewis and Clark at Camp Chopunnish, in 1806	272
A Nez Percé—Chopunnish—Indian Woman of the Present Day	274
Northern Pacific Railway Bridge across Kooskooskee, or Clearwater River, at Lewis and Clark's Old Camp, Chopunnish, which was at Farther End of the Bridge	277
The Old Ford at Collins, or Lolo, Creek, between Camp Chopunnish, or Kámiah, and Weippe Prairie	280
The "Point of Woods," where Lewis and Clark probably Camped on Weippe Prairie, Idaho, June 10, 1806	283

Illustrations

xiii

PAGE

A View from the Car Window on the Route of Captain Lewis along the Hellgate River, Montana, near Missoula, Hellgate Cañon in the Distance	291
---	-----

Trapper Chased by the Blackfeet Indians . . .	301
From drawing by Paxson.

Captain Lewis Shooting an Indian	306
From an old print from A Journal of Voyages , etc., by Patrick Gass.

Wolf Calf, one of the Blackfeet whom Captain Lewis and Party Fought with on Headwaters of Maria's River in 1806. This Represents Him in 1895 when 102 Years Old	313
Courtesy of Geo. Bird Grinnell.

Old Fort Ellis, near Bozeman, Montana, Showing Distant View of the First Ridge of the Bozeman Pass which Captain Clark Crossed on July 15, 1806, Clark's Camp, the Night of July 14th, was at the Right Centre Edge of the Illustration . . .	320
---	-----

Upper Gallatin Valley, Montana, the Gallatin Range in Background. The Camp of Captain Clark, on July 14, 1806, was in the Centre Foreground among the Brush	324
---	-----

The Main Bozeman Pass, the Road—Successor of the Old Trail,—and Northern Pacific Railway Tunnel. Captain Clark was here on July 15, 1806	328
--	-----

	PAGE
The First "Dividing Ridge" or "Gap" of the Boze- man Pass, Montana, across which Captain Clark Passed on July 15, 1806	330
Bozeman, Montana, and the Bridge Range, Showing Sacágawea Peak at the Extreme Left and Snow-covered	332
Looking East toward Yellowstone River and the Snowy Range, from Bozeman Pass and Tunnel. Captain Clark Passed down the Valley on July 15, 1806	336
The Gate of the Mountains, at Livingston, Montana. The Yellowstone River Flows through the Gap from Yellowstone Park, and Captain Clark's Noon Camp of July 15, 1806, was within the Limits of the Illustration	340
Bozeman Pass and Railway Tunnel from the East	341
A Crow — Absaroka — Squaw and her Daughters. The White Ornaments are of Elk Teeth	345
Pompey's Pillar, on the Yellowstone River from the West	349
Iron Grating over the Signature of Captain Clark, on Pompey's Pillar, Montana	351
Signature of Captain Clark Cut on Pompey's Pillar	353
Route of Captain Clark. Three Forks of the Missouri to the Mouth of the Yellowstone River	357

Illustrations

xv

PAGE

The Custer Monument on the Battle Field of the Little Big Horn River, Montana, of June 25, 1876	359
View up the Yel owstone River from the Top of Pom- pey's Pillar	363
A Crow — Absaroka — Indian (From a drawing by Paxson).	368

